AMONG MY SOUVENIRS
By Rose Bennington

In the secret chambers of my heart
A small white stone in memory stands.
With indelible clearness holds apart
Secure from mean and grasping hands.

The inscription written on it reads:
"A thoughtful friend, who gave to me
Gentle compassion. Whose kindly deeds
Loosened my chains and set me free."

* * *

There comes a time in the lives of us all, when we would gladly give all that we have for the whole-hearted loyalty of a real friend.

* * *

For after all what does success really amount to for one's self alone? The real glow of satisfaction comes from the feeling that you have accomplished something which will bring joy and happiness to those who have faith and confidence in you.

* * *

And it is the knowledge that someone has supreme faith and confidence in you, which really spurs you onward, and creates the desire to do something really worthwhile.

* * *

The feeling in one's heart that someone is expecting you to do big things is a powerful stimulus. It brings with it the constant thought—"I must do my best, in order to prove that I am really worthy of the faith and confidence which has been bestowed upon me. I must not disappoint this friend who has such implicit faith in me."

* * *

Neighbors never assume heroic proportions in our eyes. because we look at them with unseeing minds. It is not in the shops, the kitchens and the gardens, not along the common ways, we look for our heroes. Yet there they are.

* * *

A debt of love and appreciation cannot be met with a check mailed on an anniversary; nor can it be canceled by a grand splurge of noise and self-glorification. But it can be paid in full by daily loyal steadfast friendliness and love.

* * *

A little more time spent with friends, a little more affection in voice and manner, a bit more warmth in the smile and the handclasp, a little more freeing of the pent-up love for the homefolks—and no world hero parading before his thousands could be happier or more uplifted.

TIM O'HANRAHAN PROTESTS $50.00 COUNTY BEER TAX

Tim O'Hanrahan, owner-manager Seirra Tavern, attended the monthly meeting of the Board of Supervisors at Nevada City last Monday and made a vigorous protest against the new Nevada county Beverage Tax Ordinance of $50 yearly.

Mr. O'Hanrahan explained how utterly impossible it was to honestly and legally operate and sell beer under such a high tax. FAITH AND VISION

Faith and vision. Without them it is impossible for an individual, a town, a state or a nation to succeed.

It is amusing to hear the various excuses offered for failure.

A man living in a town in New England will tell you that it is impossible for that community to grow and flourish, because there are so many persons living there who refuse to fall in line with any progressive move. Now out in California, he will continue, everybody lines up solid in back of every progressive project, and that is why the towns out there are so prosperous and grow and flourish.

Or—talk with a man living down in the State of Georgia or Mississippi and he will offer much the same kind of an excuse because his town does not increase and go forward, only—in all probability—he will tell you that it is the towns up in New England that are progressive and prosperous. He will end up by telling you that—"You just can't do anything down here because there are so many to block every progressive move."

Now talk to your average small town Californian, and he will give you much the same "line." It's a hopeless proposition, he will say. Everyone wants to pull on a separate "rope." You can't get them to pull together. Now take it up in Oregon, or Washington, or back in Iowa or Illinois it's different. They all work together there."

Why is it that we always look over into the other fellow's pasture and envy other communities on what they are able to accomplish, when equal progress and development may be made right where we live if we but really care to make the effort.

As a matter of fact where there is faith and vision, anything of a constructive nature may be accomplished at any time. It is merely rising above selfish interest and supporting wholeheartedly every progressive measure regardless of just who it is in the community who proposes such a forward step.

Did you ever stop to think of what a group of citizens could do if they would only get together and pledge themselves to work for all progressive movements, even to the extent of giving up personal gains?

SEAWELL AND THE ROAD SIGN BILL

We are interested to know just what made State Senator J. L. Seawell take advantage of a time when every legislator was weakened by long hours and little sleep, to offer a resolution to have the Craig Road Sign Bill No. 1272, hauled out onto the floor of the Senate after it had had a fair hearing by a committee and chloroformed?

Seawell's activities in connection with this bill points a very suspicious finger against him.

Everybody knows that Seawell is an insurance representative, and that it is the powerful federation of insurance agencies who are so desperate to have this bill passed, and who are exerting such tremendous pressure on Governor Rolph to sign the bill.

Seawell knows that in the event the Craig bill becomes law it may result in the signposting work being carried on independently by more than 290 cities and 58 counties; with the State signposting only the state highways. The state highways represents less than ten per cent of the total road mileage in California.

In view of the fact that Seawell knows all this, why is he not protecting the people who elected him?

AN OLD TIME FIGURE BROUGHT TO LIFE

CAMEL BACK IN ARABIA

Our way now lay over a perfectly level sandy plain by the seashore. At intervals we passed, in the gathering dusk, groups of the dom palm, and of the cactus shrub which bears the prickly pear. As we still passed on, the bleating of goats came forlornly out of the falling darkness, and anon we padded silently toward a group of dark standing figures—elusive and unreal in the moonlight. These, I thought, as we slowly approached them, are black-shrouded women of the Arabs herding their flocks in the silent night. But as we passed over the pale surface of the sand abreast of them, I saw they were nothing but black scrub-bushes growing there. Travelling thus by night on the tall pad-footed beasts, it seems to the rider borne at such height aloft, that he is silently gliding or swimming over a yielding unstable surface. Or it seems that the pale half-seen ground beneath him is fluid, and itself moves flowing past; and in it dark forms of unknown shapes appear dimly, gliding out of the limitless black spaces under the starts—till going closely by them, he sees in the moonlight that they are nothing but shrubs and trees. Into this silent ghostliness, the cry of a jackal comes as a sudden commonplace sound of the actual world.

Marching all through the night without a halt, we reached 'Imaq at earliest dawn. Here dom palms and sidr (lote) trees spread their branches by the side of a spring of water, and the cool shaded ground beneath their swaying verdure was green with coarse grass. Further out on the plain was some small cultivation of durra. There was no permanent village here, but the Arabs encamp about the water in the time of the date harvest.

Here we rested all day, dozing out the hot hours in the grateful shade of the trees. At meal-time the division of the necessary labor was as follows—the camel-men gathered scrub for firewood, and fetched water; the Mekkans kindled the cooking-fire and Ahmad's shisha; the Indians did the cooking; and I helped everybody—with advice and raw provisions chiefly.

At El 'asir we mounted again and proceeded northward across the desert plain, which was here very wide, so that the eastern hills were only very dimly visible from our line of march. We saw a few flashes of lightning over the hills, and also a rainbow. Rain was evidently falling there from the heavy black clouds, and a few drops fell upon us as these passed over to seaward. The plain was thickly covered with camel grass, which vegetation, although it is wire-like and unbeautiful at close quarters, gave to the wide prospect a beauty of fresh greenness which was very solacing to the eyes. Occasionally we passed thick clumps of the ithl or tamarisk tree, and pleasant was the song of the afternoon wind through their plume-like branches.

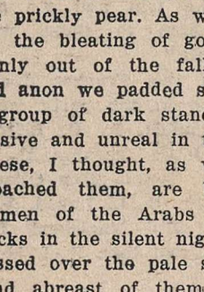
Having marched ceaselessly all night we passed at last before dawn, nodding on our camels between sleeping and waking, through some thick clumps of scrub and tamarisk, and found ourselves in the dirty and ruinous village of Halli. This is the frontier place between El Hijaz and El Yemen (or 'Asir), and was at this time already in the occupation of the Wahhabis.

Halli is a village of rush huts with a mud mosque, as are most of the coastal villages of western Arabia.—Eldon Rutter, in "The Holy Cities of Arabia." (London andd New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons).

THE LOVELY BRIDES USES MAKE-UP TO ADD CHARM

By JACQUELINE HUNT

BEFORE you apply your make-up for the most thrilling event in your life, decide whether you want to be a sure-fire blushing bride or whether you want to appear interestingly pale. Whichever way you decide, remember that your make-up should be glamorous, but neither artificial or extreme. With this in mind, you can play up to your eyes and give your cheeks and lips a happy, expectant flush.



MISS HUNT

Perhaps you wonder just how much rouge and lipstick to apply to get this effect. It must be planned correctly and insured against catastrophe. And for this purpose a good tinted foundation cream or lotion will help you. If your skin is good, use a creamy finishing lotion that leaves the skin soft and smooth. Use only a little of the lotion and work it carefully into the skin over the face and neck well below the neckline of your gown. Into this foundation blend your rouge—not too much if your skin flushes easily, as the natural color will intensify the rouge. Now a dusting of powder and your lipstick—a soft natural tone that blends with your coloring.

If your skin is one of those inclined to be shiny, use a liquid foundation powder that goes on smoothly and stays in place especially well during the warm weather. If it is your nose only that offends, you can use your favorite foundation preparation on the rest of your face and use an anti-shine preparation or the liquid powder onl yon your nose.

If your skin flushes easily when you become nervous and excited, you can guard against its being too noticeable by blending a tiny bit of lilac powder with the powder that matches your natural skin tones. If, on the other hand, excitement makes your skin pale, it is wise to use stimulating tonic that will bring up a natural flush to which you can adjust your make-up.

Unless your natural coloring is dark and rich, you should avoid any attempt to make up vividly. If you are blond and classic and naturally delicately colored, there is ane w blush rose rouge that will make you appear younger and lovelier than ever. And get a lipstick of the same color to give your lips the right amount of emphasis without making them obvious. Use a powder that is a light rachel or flesh and for blue or gray eyes that should be as bright and romantic as possible, use a blue shadow and a dark, dark blue mascara for your lashes.

Bridal veils and the pert little hat that you will probably wear away on your wedding trip demand that the eyes be alluring, but the emphasis must be put on with a delicate hand. In applying the eye shadow try not to put it too high on the lids or you wil get a harsh, staring effect. And never use color under the eyes. Only actresses can do it and get away with it, and they know the trick. The most intense line of color should be along the line of the upper lashes, and the color may be brought from there gradually and delicately beyond the eye—exactly how far depends on the size and shape of the eyes themselves.

POLITICAL PARADE

By Homer L. Roberts
(California Press Service Writer)
Special to The Truckee Republican

CANDIDATE. From attorney general to governor of California.

Will that be the next step to be taken by "General" U. S. Webb, now being widely boomed to carry the Progressive - Republican banner against James Rolph Jr., in 1934?

Homer Roberts

Webb, it is privately admitted, is non-commital. But his friends, who see in him the only chance for strong Progressive leadership (now that C. C. Young and Bert B. Meek are presumably out of the picture) are frankly sending up "balloons" for Webb.

VETERAN. Sixty-nine years old, but much younger in appearance, Ulysses Simpson Webb is California's first and only attorney general.

He has held the office since 1902 when he was appointed by Governor Henry T. Gage.

In November, 1930, he was elected for the eighth consecutive time—a new record in the annals of California history.

Shaggy-haired, bushy eyebrowed, Webb resembles the late "Marse Henry" Watterson. In fact, Webb is a southerner, too. He was born in West Virginia, educated in Kansas, migrated to Quincy, Plumas county.

RICHARDSON. Don't be in a hurry to cross off the name of Friend W. Richardson from your list of potential candidates for the governorship.

Although he holds the post of state building and loan commissioner as a gift from the governor, Richardson is watching the political scene with great interest.

Opponents of Richardson accuse him of feathering his own nest at the expense of Rolph. He obtained the reappointment of Leon O. Whitsell as state railroad commissioner. Now he is boosting young Roland Tognazzini for appointment as state insurance commissioner.

PALS. William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, and Governor Rolph have buried the hatchet and it is now safe to assume Hearsts' papers will support Rolph for reelection.

This is news, for a few months last year Hearsts' papers were bitterly assailing Rolph and pointing out instances of asserted wrong-doing by Rolph's lieutenants.

Unkind observers insist that Rolph's veto of the racing bill turned the trick. But anyway, everything is said to be all right, and "W. R." and Sunny "Jim" are buddies again.

SNAPSHOTS. Vincent D. Kennedy, head of the railroad commission office in Los Angeles, turned odwn a $7,000 job as Sacramento county

Your Good Health

The Effect of Unripe Fruit on Our Inner Mechanism

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

A GOOD many of us will not be able to provide our tables with imported delicacies this year and must wait until the local markets or our own gardens and orchards provide them. How the green apples and grapes and the like tantalized us after the winter's diet of canned goods! And quite often we paid a good price for our indulgence. As I recall the experiences, I think we learned a great deal about our inner mechanism through just such seasons. Every physician expected a certain amount of stomach and intestinal disturbance, some of it rather serious, to provide th summer's business.

* * *

SOME very weli substantiated facts grew out of that business. First, if a certain amount of irritation in the intestinal tract is necessary to promote and sustain peristaltic action, it is easy to understand that too much irritation will mean too much action which in turn produces distress and depletion. This usually reveals itself in an appearance of real illness. The face is pale and drawn. The frequent and excessive discharge of waste soon brings a marked weakness. There is not likely to be fever unless some actual inflammation has set in but if fever is present, it is frequently quite high.

* * *

ALL of these symptoms of distress lead the patient or the family in case of a child, to resort to remedies that promise rapid results. It must first be remembered that such irritation in the intestinal tract means the presence there of a disturbing factor that ought to be removed. Until this irritation has been cleaned out, it is a mistake to do anything to put a stop to the discharge of waste matter.

* * *

THERE is usually a definite relation between the attack of distress and the susceptibility of the sufferer to certain types of food or changes in climate and water. Occasionally the entire gastric area is upset by some unusual emotion such as fright, suspense, excitement or just plain worry. If this should be the situation it is one of nervousness and self-control should be cultivated. If the nerve excitement is sufficient to prevent proper digestion, the only alternative is to refrain from food at at such times. There should always be the effort, first of all, to find what caused the irritation and then to get rid of it.

IT WAS a wise man who said, "The more you practice what you know, the more shall you know what to practice."

Mrs. Otis Hursey and infant son Roger Phillip arrived from Fallon on Thursday and have taken up their residence on the V. S. McClatchey property where her husband is caretaker.

Fred Hosford, ex-resident of Truckee and Tahoe was in town on Tuesday and will return within a few days to visit friends.

A sum of $195.00 was found in an old purse secreted under the carpet at the Backarich home at Tahoe, the property of the late John Cello, who met death in an auto accident recently. The money was turned over to Judge George Bliss as part of the estate, by Constable Bechdolt.

Lee Stone and Frank Ledbetter the last pair of housebreakers taken to Auburn some weeks ago, have been investigated by Sheriff Gum and Ledbetter was found to have a previous criminal record having been arrested and convicted on a grand larceny charge in the state of Utah, afterwards escaping from a road gang with a $50.00 reward offered for his apprehension. Let's hope our worthy constable gets a portion of it, at least!

The trial of Ralph Woods and Carl Russell, housebreakers arrested at Tahoe in March, ended in Auburn on June 2nd before Judge George Thompson in the Superior Court. Attorney Robnson Sr. defended the pair with District Attorney Lowell Sparks representing the people. The jury, headed by Arthur Delboe of Tahoe, brought in a verdict of guilty of first degree burglary on one count of robbing the garage occupied by the Matchems, and not guilty of robbing the McClatchey summer home. A compromise was made after two of the jurors stubbornly refused to vote guilty on the second count. They were out nearly two hours. Judge Thompson set Wednesday, June 7th at 10 A. M. as the time for pronouncing sentence. It is believed they will receive at least ten years as there is a previous criminal record against them and conviction of first degree burglary carries a minimum sentence of something like five years also. With a few more of these light-fingered gentry safely behind the bars, Tahoe may at last enjoy some comparative peace. Tahoe witnesses whose presences were demanded at the trial included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Matchem, Mrs. Ann Baker, Deputy Sheriff Charles Swanson and Constable Carl Bechdolt.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Anderson and family will occupy the house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Weller Atherton across from the high school building, the Athertons now comfortably settled in new quarters above their grocery store.

Miss Florence Vernon will enjoy a week's visit in Auburn as the house guest of Miss Amy Gwynn daughter of Auburn's police chief. She will leave on Friday, attending the high school graduation exercises that evening there.

Clifford Tellar, aged 14, was kidnapped on Friday night from his mother, who was staying at Tahoe City, by his own father, who had been divorced from Mrs. Tellar for some years. He was accompanied by another man. Altho the number of the car and full descriptions of the men were broadcast statewide, no word has as yet been received of the child's whereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Atherton visited at their Fallon home, where they are planting a fine summer garden, over the week end and returned Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Doyle of Oakland, parents of Mrs. Charles Swanson, motored here on Wednesday for a short visit. On Thursday Mrs Swanson returned with them to Auburn to attend the funeral of an old family friend, Ed Ames of Newcaslte.

Stanley Bavier, editor of the Truckee Republican, is sponsoring a movement to provide a little excitement as part of the welcoming program on July 23rd, when Governor James Rolph will ride to the Nevada-California state line to welcome the governors of 40 other states to the Truckee-Tahoe region on a sight seeing tour. The plan, if developed and executed successfully provides for an old time stage coach (I saw several in Auburn while there recently) with a four or six horse team to draw it, which would act as escort to the motor caravan, meeting them on the out skirts of the city. With a little civic cooperation the town could be decorated in gala fashion with the reception committee dressed in togs of the good old wild and woolly West days gone by. The climax would occur when a real old fashioned, blood-curdling, hair-raising hold up would be staged at Robbers' Roost, (to be advertised well in advance, however, that there may be no real loss of life!) Any of the male population of our region who would care to indulge in a little harmless excitement for the benefit of our austere visiting governors, will please communicate with Mr Bavier of the Truckee Republican. At least such a reception would be decidedly "different" and something for them to write home about!

NORDEN NEWS

By C. W. KRAMER

The Norden fire train was instituted for the second time this season when the prolonged cold spell necessitated laying it off early in May. The crew was in charge of Engineer W. W. Theobald, fireman Chas. Hand, Conductor C. Oltman, brakeman G. Ryan and watchman Albert Proteau.

Matt Dubelbeiss of B&B 113 Smart was a week end visitor at the home of Pete Eide at Old Summit renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. William J. Sellick, wife of Norden's first trick telegrapher, motored to Sacramento this week with Halford Hackley and his mother Mrs. Emma Hackley.

Mr. Edward Pelham, a pensioned Southern Pacific employee, with his wife and son Gordon Page of Yuba City, have arrived at Norden to make their headquarters for the summer at their residence on Lincoln Way.

J. C. Lyon of Norden is now located indefinitely in and about Napa where he has an important post with the State.

Noble Robinson and Joseph Northey motored to their respective homes in Roseville last week end.

Mrs. Clarence Libby of Norden holds the honors of being the first among the fair sex of this locality to bring in a fair catch of trout and much rivalry is anticipated among the women anglers to beat her record.

Harvey Bush was a week end visitor with his family at Tunnel Six, he having come up from Knights Landing.

Frank R. Bennet of Tunnel Six was missed away from his usual place of abode for several days he having gone to Truckee to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Rutishauser of Elk Grove were visiting relatives at Norden several days last week.

John Thorburn and John Creasy, first and second assistants of B&B 108 Tunnel Six were passengers to spend a day or so in the Nevada metropolis of Reno on business.

Engineer F. S. Hickman of Roseville was sent to Norden to relieve engineer W. W. Theobald of the fire train.

George Backarich of B&B 108 Tunnel Six was injured in an automobile accident on the Tahoe road near the home of his parents at Tahoe City last week. He is reported as recovering rapidly and will soon resume his usual duties.

A smiling countenance upon the face of Charles P. Stephens of Tunnel Six has some of the residents wondering. How come, and to date has not been explained.

M. Bellomini of Andover is now located at Norden doing shed watchman duties as is Pop Hayes of Troy, who is in a like capacity on the opposite shift.

Halford Hall and Arthur Brown formed a successful fishing party last Sunday when they returned with a fair sized catch of beautiful Loch Leven trout hooked from a nearby stream.

Louis Featsent, a new comer to these parts, has not been successful in enticing the finny tribe from the local streams, and says the Mt. Shasta trout are not so particular.

Andrew Pfeiffer of B&B 108 Tunnel Six is proving himself to be some beau brummel in his early forties and has proven to many of the younger set that what he says is often proven to be true when he was seen recently driving a comely miss to her home in Modesto from Sacramento.

Nevada County Voters Will Vote On Repeal State Election June 27

Will Nevada county be "out of the drought before Christmas?"

Or, in other words, will this county vote for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment at the state election June 27th.

This question has both the wets and drys busy sharpening their pencils, according to word from Sacramento.

Based upon the vote for repeal of the Wright Act, California's prohibition enforcement law, at the general election last fall, this county normally could be expected to vote for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, it was stated.

At that election the vote in favor of repeal was 1,459,835, while there were 658,351 votes against it. On the other hand, the repeal proposition lost 6 years previously by a vote of 502,258 for and 565,875 against.

In Nevada county the vote at these two elections was as follows:

	1932	1926
For repeal	3689	1568
Against repeal	1332	1684

At the coming election, however, voters will not simply pass upon the question of repealing the national prohibition law.

Instead, they will elect a ticket of 22 delegates, either from the wet or dry ranks, who will attend a state convention for the purpose of deciding whether or not to repeal the act. Advocates of repeal expect to use as one argument the need of tax revenue from liquor control to put President Roosevelt's proposed $3,000,000,000 public works program into effect.

This money would start flowing into the treasury immediately after adoption by the thirty-sixth state of the repeal resolution, which optimistic Californians hope will be by the end of 1933.

It would provide enough revenue not only to pay the interest and redemption of the $3,000,000,000 bond issue, but also to pay a considerable amount into the federal general fund, it is pointed out.

IONE, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—This town, despite local wags, did not gain its name because one of its early inhabitants had a habit of telling visitors, "I own this and I own that." At least, that's what an amateur historian declared this week. The name, he said, was given to the valley in which the town lies by one Thomas Brown, who admired the heroine of Bulwer Lytton's, The Last Days of Pompeii.

NEVADA COUNTY SPENT $12,710 TO PROTECT CITIZENS

California's 58 counties last year spent a total of $5,140,421 to care for criminals to protect their citizens from the activities of felons, an increase of less than $200,000 over the 1931 cost.

This was the report by State Controller Ray L. Riley at Sacramento in his annual compilation of the costs of various activities of county government.

In 1932, the report shows Nevada county spent $12,710, divided as follows: For its sheriff's office $8,552; for constables $2,063 and for its county jail $2,095.

These totals, Riley explained, do not include the costs of courts, but simply the three major units of law enforcement work.

"For the counties as a whole," he said, "the cost of sheriff's offices during 1932, as compared to 1931 increased slightly, from $2,857,140 in 1931 to $2,896,139 last year.

"The cost of constables' offices rose from $790,432 in 1931 to $803,967 last year and that of county jails from $1,298,611 to $1,440,315."

The costs of the three major branches of law enforcement work varied greatly in the individual counties ranging, for instance, from the $1,330 paid by Alpine county for its sheriff to the $1,429,209 paid by the taxpayers of Los Angeles county for their sheriff's office.

Two counties, Plumas and Alpine, spent nothing at all last year for constables. The lowest county jail cost reported by any county was that of Inyo county, which spent only $96.99 all year for the care of its prisoners.

TWO-YEAR-OLD FALLS FROM MOVING CAR BUT IS NOT INJURED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—Two-year-old Donald Goldstein might be said to be a "bouncing baby."

Riding in the rear seat of a touring car driven by James Conley Donald bounced out onto the pavement, made a three-point landing and laughed.

Deputy sheriffs, passing by, picked up the child and took him to the emergency hospital, where he was found to be without injury. Later he was claimed by Conley.

To Blossoms

Fair pledges of a fruitful tree,
Why do ye fall so fast?
Your date is not yet past.
But you may stay yet here awhile
To blush and gently smile,
And go at last.

What! were ye born to be
An hour or half's delight,
And so to bid good-night?
'Twas pity nature brought ye forth
Merely to show your worth,
And lose you quite.
— Robert Herrick, Poems

Cascades of the Sierras

Why are these waters
So mad to reach the sunset?
Leaping from the dawn,
Cleaving space
Like white-winged valkyries,
Down, down
With a song, a shout,
Reverberant in the gorge,
Angry in the canyon.
Lyrical in the forest,
Laughing in the sunlight,
Pausing to rest their wings
In some sky-reflecting pool
That holds their mother cloud in its bosom,
Then slipping—sliding,
Rushing to the rim-rock,
Cleaving space,
Down, down,
With a wild, strange song
And a view-halloo
To the sea,
The serpent-colored sea.

Why are these waters
So mad to reach the sunset?

LOS ANGELES—(CPS) — Archibald Douglas Forbes wrote notes to his wife, Mrs. Dulce Forbes, but they weren't love notes. In fact, one note he wrote started off, "You should have been the moll of a gangster. They all squeal." She got her divorce.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

HERE'S WHAT NEW BARBER LAWS ENTITLE YOU TO INSIST ON

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—The next time you go into a barbershop for either a shave or haircut, be sure you get everything the California barber law entiles you to.

This is the suggestion of C. E. Rynearson, secretary of the state board of barber examiners, who says:

"Your barber must wash his hands before serving you. You are entitled to clean towels, including a steam towel, with each shave, and insist upon it," he says. "You are entitled to have a towel or strip of cotton placed around your neck under the hair cloth before you receive a hair-cut. You are entitled to have comb, razor, tweezers, etc sterilized before being served, and should insist upon it. All shops are required to display the Sanitary Rules and Regulations in a conspicuous place, so that you will know what you are entitled to get."

BICYCLE ACCIDENTS SHOW DECREASE IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—Bicycle accidents in Los Angeles are falling off.

Despite the growing use of bicycles by persons interested in their use as a health and weight-reducing method, a marked decrease in accidents were recorded by Police Statistician Rhoda Cross.

The total number of mishaps involving bicycles for the first four months of this year was 94, as compared with 104 during the same period in 1932.

WAR DEPARTMENT AUTHORIZES 60-MILE SPEED 75-MILLIMETER GUNS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—Motorization of the 143rd Field Artillery of the California National Guard, to permit the towing of its 75-millimeter guns at a speed up to 60 miles an hour, has been authorized by the War Deparment.

This was disclosed here by Adjutant General Seth E. Howard, who said the artillery regiment will soon be converted from an animal-drawn to truck-drawn outfit. The conversion will probably take place next fall.

Units of the 143rd Field Artillery are located at Sacramento, Stockton Lodi, Oakland and Santa Barbara.

VISALIA, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—Mrs. Tressa Greenleaf didn't mind her husband living with her, but when he insisted that his uncle share their home she thought that was too much. At least, that's what she said when she filed suit for divorce here from Harold L. Greenleaf.

Miss TENNER teaches music at the Butte (Mont.) high school.

SUPERIOR JUDGE NEVILLE'S SALARY INCREASED TO $4500

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—"Ah," said Governor Rolph after rubbing his eyes to make sure he was seeing right, "this is one of the most unusual bills passed by the legislature." Then he signed it.

"This" was Senate Bill 255, introduced by Senator Jerrold Seawell, and it raised the salary of Superior Judge Henry B. Neville of Sierra county from $4,000 to $4,500. All of the other judges' salary bills which have confronted the governor have embodied drastic slashes for the jurists.

BIRD BATTLES SHADOW FOR SIXTY LONG DAYS

GLENDALE, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—For the 60th consecutive day, a tenacious towhee has been battling his shadow in the window of the home of Mrs. L. C. Brand here.

The bird, apparently annoyed at the widespread publicity his actions have received, abandoned a nest he was building in view of the Brand home, and built elsewhere. Spectators were unable to find the new nest.

VISALIA—(CPS)—When Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Russell returned home after watching their daughter graduate from grammar school, they found their home totally destroyed by fire. Only the wash on the line at the rear of the home was unharmed.

SACRAMENTO—(CPS) — Orval Howard, former San Franciscan, was out of work and virtually out of money. So he built himself a raft and with his dog Queenie, is floating down the Sacramento river. He gets enough saw-filing jobs to keep himself in food.

SALINAS—(CPS)—Using the sign language, Antonio Bonito, a deaf mute, told the judge his 7-year-old son used to awaken him at night to inform him his wife was keeping clandestine dates with another man. He got his divorce.

WOMEN'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE MOTOR CAR

There is some doubt that people care to hear very much about what goes on under the hoods of their cars.

The driver knows that "driving qualities" are not accidental; they are put there. How the manufacturer creates or evolves those results may not interest him. He judges entirely by the results he gets in driving.

Well, it is not essential to talk "shop"; let us talk Results.

Smoothness. Drive the Ford V-8 and you will find that the engine runs with surpassing smoothness, due to its design and the extra precise methods of its manufacture.

Power. There it is, 75 horsepower (we could say 80) at the driveshaft for the driver's use. With less weight to pull around, the mettle of this car---its life-like response---is rather remarkable.

Economy. Our V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gasoline than any car we have made. Mileage is partly a matter of individual driving, but under average conditions the Ford V-8 does 17 to 20 miles a gallon. Of course, car economy is not only a matter of fuel. Ford V-8 has that too, but it is also economical in the complete sense---initial cost, operation, maintenance.

Appearance. This is woman's contribution. The motor car must not only be useful, but also good-looking. View the Ford V-8 and you will not need our comment on its fine appearance.

Comfort. This also is woman's concern. In 30 years she changed the motor car from a wagon to a coach. Comfort is a quality made up of numerous ingredients. There is no comfort without a quiet, smooth-running engine. We have all the other ingredients too,---color, good taste, quality, ease, safety, roominess and convenience.

MEEKS BAY NEWS ITEMS
By Mrs. Chas. Heller

Meeks Bay residents were shocked Tuesday by the news of the tragic death of Harold Wayne Merrill, 21-year-old Alhambra aviator, who was instantly killed Tuesday afternoon when an airplane he was piloting went into a tail spin at 2000 feet elevation and crashed into a field south of Arcadia.

Merrill, although a veteran flyer and pilot of long experience, seemed according to eye witnesses, unable to prevent the crash.

Geo. T. O'Bannion of Sierra Madre, aged 28, a student flyer and boyhood friend of Merrill was a passenger and was also instantly killed. He is survived by a widow. Young Merrill was unmarried.

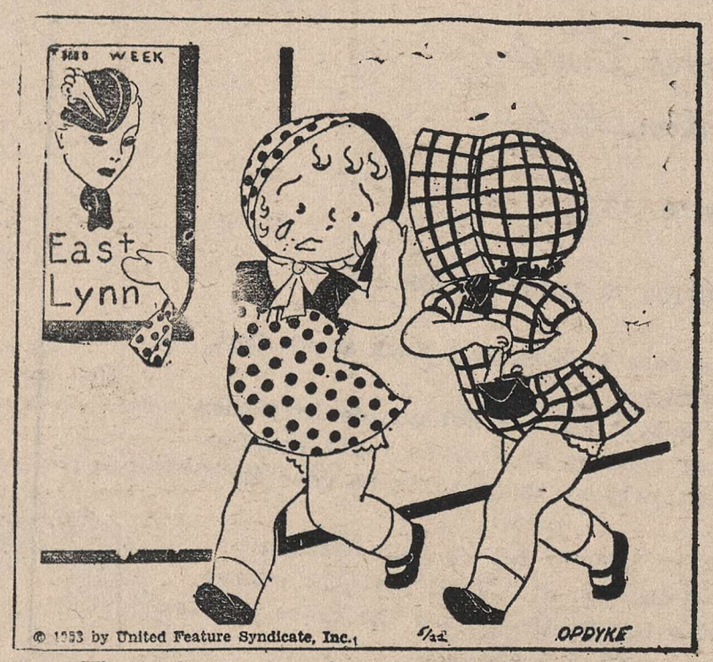
Funeral services were held in Pasadena where his mother, Mrs Sylvia Merrill, resides.

The Merrils, until very recent years, were residents each summer of Meeks Bay. They formerly owned the Stone Cottage now owned and occupied by Oswald Kehlet during the summer months.

Mr. Fred Ryan of Sacramento was a visitor at Meeks Bay last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kehlet, with the children, Darrell and Dawnella of San Gabriel, arrived Sunday for the summer.

Hats off to Captain Hans Hansen of Rubicon Lodge. He is sporting a beautiful 1933 Buick De Luxe Sedan bought recently in Reno.



"That's the first good cry I've had in years!"

FORD LAUNCHES WIDE PROGRAM OF PRODUCTION

With 35,000 workmen in his shops and others being hired daily, Henry Ford has launched the Ford Motor Co. upon a production program which will be stepped up during the summer in accordance with a steadily improving business outlook.

His program contemplates no change of factory location and no tie-up of the Ford organization with the steel or any other industry, despite persistent rumors to the contrary.

Reports that activities at the Rouge plant will be ransferred to the old Ford plant in Highland Park, and that other steel companies will take over Ford's idle steel mills at the Rouge, are entirely unfounded on fact. This is known certainly, despite the refusal of Mr. Ford to dignify the reports by an official denial.

Viewpoint Unchanged

Officially, Mr. Ford will say only that his company is proceeding on the fundamental principles which produced the first of his 25,000,000 automobiles, and that "nothing has occurred to change our point of view."

"The whole country got away from fundamentals a few years ago and began to call it progress," he declared in an interview at his Dearborn offices.

"Things are looking better today than they have since the 1929 market crash, but no easy times are in sight for anyone yet. We are all feeling better for three reasons—first, because it is spring; second, because President Roosevelt is working away and actually accomplishing things; third, because there has been a substantial increase in employment.

"But there are no easy times yet.

"From now on the host valuable commodity in the United States is going to be old-fashioned common sense and work. The jazz period in industry and everything else is past."

Smart London Women Now Smoking Pipes

LONDON—In London it is becoming the smart thing for women to smoke pipes. But the "tobacco stoves" must be distinctive, the bowls small, the stem long and slender and the mouthpiece tiny. The feminine demand has led to great variety in shapes and styles of pipes. Many made to order for women have gold bands or are studded with diamonds.

Helpful Pointers To Follow During Summer Vacation

California motorists will have a much better chance of enjoying their vacation this summer if they observe a few common sense rules of the road.

Records of the state show that a large portion of automobile accidents occur in summer months when vacation travel is at its heaviest, according to Russell Bevans, registrar of motor vehicles.

"Many of these accidents could have been avoided had the proper preliminary precautions been taken," said Bevans.

Because of this, the registrar has prepared a few hints to be followed by the vacation motorist. Here they are:

1. You will enjoy your trip more by proceeding leisurely.

2. Have good tires on your car and check them frequently. Don't over-inflate them. See that your brakes are adequate to control your car at all times.

3. Check the windshield wiper for safety. You may run into a storm and need it.

4. Don't try to drive too far in one day. It is unsafe to drive when the eyes become tired and the body fatigued.

5. Keep your car to the RIGHT at all times.

6. Load your baggage so it does not protrude beyond the running board on the left side, nor more than 6 inches beyond the running board on the right. Do not carry spare tires in front of the radiator.

7. If you smoke, carry some sort of container for matches, cigarette or cigar stubs. You may start a serious fire and land in jail if you throw lighted stubs along the highway.

In listing these suggestions, Bevans pointed out that the motorist is, of course, expected to obey the recognized traffic laws in addition to these precautions.

"I also wish to emphasize that it is much more satisfactory to travel 'light' inasmuch as a car loaded too heavily is inclined to take much of the joy out of vacations by developing ailments at unfortunate times," he concluded.

"God the Preserver of Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, June 11, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "For the Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever." (Ps. 37:28).

Other Bible citations will include: "The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore" (Ps. 121:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortailty. This faith relies upon an understood Principle. This Principle makes whole the diseased, and brings out the enduring and harmonious phases of things." (pp. 487, 488).

FIRST SHIPMENT APRICOTS LEAVE FOR HONOLULU

WOODLAND, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—The first shipment of apricots of the year has been sent from Rumsey, near here, to Honolulu and eastern markets.

Cool weather this year retarded the ripening of the apricots and delayed the season considerably. The first shipment last year from this section was made May 12th.

'THE STOW FORMULA' BECOMES BY-WORD AT STATE CAPITOL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—The expression, "the Stow formula" has become a by-word at the state capitol.

The formula, originated by Senator Edgar W. Stow of Santa Barbara, member of the senate finance committee, was responsible for trimming thousands of dollars off the biennial budget, despite the fact that the senate "upped" the budget considerably.

Briefly stated, the "Stow formula" was this: "Take the budget for any given department and separate the salaries from support, permanent improvements, etc. To the salaries apply the wage cut adopted by the assembly. And to the rest of the budget apply a horizontal reduction of 20 per cent."

COEDS GO TO COLLEGE IN BEDROOM SLIPPERS

STOCKTON, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—A lot of coeds attended their classes at the College of the Pacific the other day, wearing bedroom slippers.

In the early morning hours some freshmen members of a Greek letter fraternity stole into the girls' house and took their shoes, which they distributed among three other fraternities on the campus.

Eventually the girls got their shoes back.

An artist depends on his accents and his bold, unusual strokes to gain effectiveness in his portraits, and with the same tricks a home maker can make her menus "different" and effective. It may be the sauce, it may be the order of the courses, unusual garnishes or a dessert that is surprising in its simplicity and goodness.

Pretty dishes for serving foods, unusual table settings, the use of colorful linen and flowers also make a meal more appealing. And you need to call on all these little tricks when warm weather makes appetites more temperamental. I have several exceptionally good recipes for you today.

Rhubarb Frappe

In the first menu, the ice as a first course is an unusual touch. Cook unpeeled, diced rhubarb in water to cover until it is tender, strain and to one pint of the juice add the juice of one lemon and enough sugar to sweeten well. Freeze this liquid to the mushy stage in the refrigerator or in an ice cream freezer, stirring occasionally so the tiny icy particles are distributed evenly through the frappe. Serve in sherbet cups.

Baked Stuffed Shad

The arrangement of your main course can also be unusual. For instance, the baked shad can be placed on a large platter and surrounded with the tomatoes stuffed with chopped cucumber and alternated with creamed carrots and peas in toasted bread cases or patty shells. The baked potatoes, passed on a separate platter, should have a cross cut in their sides and part of the snowy meat pressed out with a square of butter and a dash of paprika making them more delicious. Be sure the skins are scrubbed so thoroughly that they may be eaten if one happens to like them.

Jellied Soup

For jellied soup course in the second menu simmer together two cups of canned tomatoes, one tablespoon of chopped chives, two tablespoons chopped onion, one-half cup chopped celery, one-half bay leaf and two cloves until the celery is tender. Then add two sliced raw beets and cook until the color is drained from them. Add a mashed clove of garlic and then strain. Add one cup of hot, strong chicken consomme (use two chicken bouillon cubes in one cup of water) and stir in one tablespoon of gelatin that has been softened in two tablespoonfuls of water. Add one teaspoon sugar, one-fourth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon vinegar and salt and pepper to season. Chill. Press the jelly through a ricer into clear sherbet glasses and serve imediately with saltines or cheese wafers.

FANCY AQUAPLANING BY JOE E. BROWN IN LATEST COMEDY FILM

Joe E. Brown does some plain and fancy aquaplane stunts in his latest comedy hit, "You Said A Mouthful," the First National picture whcih will be shown at the Donner Theatre next Sunday night. In this he is aided and abetted by Preston S. Foster, both of whom are adepts with the sea planes in which they are hauled over the rough waters of the Pacific, at Catalina Island, at a terrific speed.

Joe, playing the part of an artless youth, is induced to step on the board through a misapprehension, but manages to stick on by uick and finally topples into the water through sheer awkwardness

Joe's ungainliness is simulated for picture purposes, and when he plunges into the water, it is really his skilled diving that makes it appear to be a funny accident.

Ginger Rogers, Sheila Terry, Farina, of "Our Gang" comedies, Guinn Williams and Harry Gribbon are among those in the supporting cast. The picture was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

COUNTERFEITER ERRS; GETS CAUGHT IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 8—(CPS)—A counterfeiter operating here was a wonderful craftsman. So good was he that the fake bills he put out could hardly be detected from genuine paper money. It was too bad, however, that he put the portrait of Thomas Jefferson on his $10 bills, because even the newest bank teller knows Uncle Sam's real $10 bills bear the picture of Alexander Hamilton.
